

Name: _____

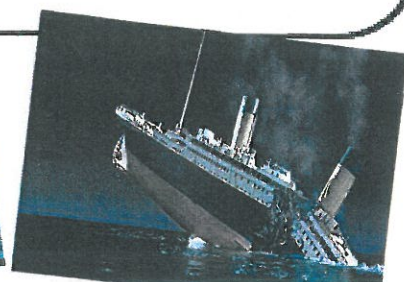

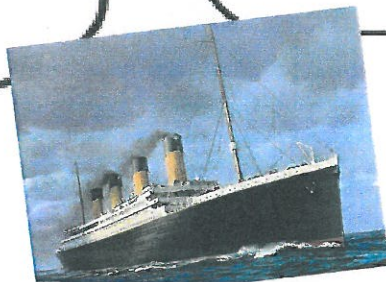

Date: ^{Monday} ~~Tuesday~~ 2nd October 2017

LC: Can you write diary entries with description and emotion? ☺

My target from last week's Big Write: To try a shift in formality

Feedback given on 1st draft (GP)

9th April, 1912

Dear Mimi,

As I lie here in my bouncy bed, I can't even keep myself still nor quiet! For tomorrow, I (yes me!) will be setting sail upon the finest and most beautiful ocean liner that has ever been created! Stupendous!

Father booked us our tickets weeks ago, yet kept it a secret until two days ago when we were having our supper. Can you even imagine what happened to everyone around the table? Cristian lept right out of his seat and speedily clapped his hands, while Mummy smiled with glee and joy. Dad also mentioned we were spending the rest of our lives in the New York! What a pleasure it will be! Although everyone was merry and jolly, my first question was, "What about our cat Minnie?" After finding out she will be just fine with Grandma, I was pretty sure she would be looked after properly - but I will miss her. Oh I really can't wait! New York, here I come!

So it is tomorrow that we set sail from Queenstown at