

Habitat

Orangutans live in the wet and humid canopies of the rainforests located in Borneo and Sumatra. It is very dark in the rainforests yet as the orangutans travel through the trees, they will break tree branches and this causes sunlight to shine through and re-generate the forest.

Threats

Terrified, petrified, confused, the orangutans back away from the life-threatening mechanics, watching as it destroys their home. If we keep chopping down trees, if we don't try caring for these poor creatures, if all we want is money, then we will be the cause of extinction.

What is being done?

The Orangutan Foundation is an amazing charity: it collects money to help orphaned orangutans. People are now being thoughtful enough to adopt an orangutan. Also, people are raising awareness and educating young children about orangutans this issue.

The numbers of orangutans are dwindling & well below one hundred thousand, and they need your help to save them.

We've done all we can.
